Our Story

The Comensoli legacy began in 1956 when the family immigrated from Italy to British Columbia. By 1960, Mr. Comensoli (Nonno) helped rezone the now-thriving “Broadway Corridor” in Port Coquitlam, home to many leading food companies, including Comensoli Foods.

A visionary inventor, Nonno created groundbreaking technologies like the “Natural Frequency Conveyor” and the “Non-Impact Pulverizer,” the latter capable of milling grain into flour efficiently. His passion for innovation and desire to make food affordable inspired his grandson, Derek Comensoli, to pursue advancements in food manufacturing.

Together, three generations of Comensoli men embarked on this journey, building a company rooted in innovation and community. Under Derek’s leadership, Comensoli Foods expanded into private label and co-packing partnerships, specialty foods, and strategic alliances, including the acquisition of Cloud 9 Gluten Free Foods Inc.

Today, Comensoli Foods partners with food manufacturers, distributors, club stores, and retailers across North America and the Pacific Rim. Specializing in custom blending for both retail and bulk packaging, we deliver agile and efficient solutions tailored to meet the diverse needs of our clients.

From ideation to shelf, Comensoli Foods is your trusted partner for bringing products rapidly to market.

Proudly Made in Canada

Setting New Standards in Food Innovation

For over 15 years, Comensoli Foods has been a trusted leader in high-quality dry mix products. As one of the pioneers in gluten-free retail, we introduced flours, baking mixes, and pizza shells that redefined quality and taste. Throughout our journey, we've continually expanded our expertise and operations to meet the evolving needs of the food industry.

Our acquisition of Cloud 9 Gluten Free Foods Inc. strengthens our capabilities, enabling us to serve the retail sector while offering world-class co-packing and private label services globally.

Whether you're looking for a reliable partner to bring your product to life or to expand your brand with innovative, market-ready solutions, Comensoli Foods delivers unmatched flexibility and quality assurance.
